My dear Dr. Harris:

I see by the papers that you have had a hard blow in your tight little island, but I am relieved to see by the small map published that apparently it did not blow through your valley. I trust that if the edge of it did, that our work stood up well against it and am very anxious to hear from you as to how our buildings rode out the storm. use

I have been busily paving a certain place with good intentions to write to you, all of which matured just too late for the week's steamer so I have had to wait until the next week, with the same result. I can well imagine that our Depression is yours also and that while so little is happening to keep us busy here, with you nothing may be happening at all. I am still building bridges for Mr. R. and have one just starting in Mt. Desert and several others that will probably be started soon. It is, of course, a heaven sent blessing to me but am not at all sure that I deserve it. use

Do write to me as soon as ever you get this and let me know the family news as well as that of the larger Polytechnic family. As ever,

Yours

*Santa
